THE VISION AND IDEA BEHIND CHALLENGE UROCON

Urology is often straightforward—until it isn't.

Every urologist encounters cases where the usual algorithm does not quite fit: an unexpected finding, an unusual anatomy, an unforeseen complication, a difficult decision, or a situation where there is no clearly right answer. These are the cases that challenge not only our technical skills, but also our judgement, adaptability and ability to make decisions under uncertainty.

Challenge UROCON was conceived to bring these stories to the centre stage.

Rather than showcasing only perfect outcomes, Challenge UROCON celebrates the real-world complexity of urological practice—the difficult cases, the unexpected turns, the decisions that worked, and even those that, in retrospect, might have been approached differently.

The idea is simple: What made the case difficult? How did you respond? What did you learn? And, with the benefit of hindsight and evidence, would you do anything differently?

Across urological subspecialties, colleagues from India and around the world will share cases that pushed the boundaries of their experience and expertise. The emphasis is not merely on what was done, but on the challenge, the thought process, the evidence, the judgement and the learning that emerged from it. Because some of the most valuable lessons in medicine do not come from cases that went according to plan.

They come from the cases that challenged the plan.

Challenge UROCON

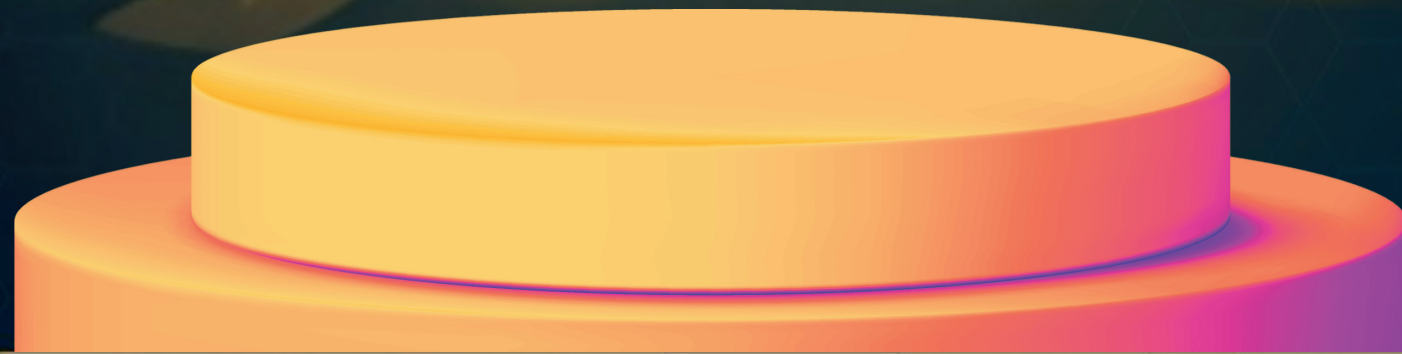

Where difficult cases become shared learning.
